Terrible Battle on British Front--Lines Still Holding--Confidence

The long looked for German offensive commenced on the British front last Thursday. The Germans are fighting in heavy massed formation with the biggest concentration of artillery ever known. The forces lined up are estimated at 97 German divisions (1,164,000 men at 12,000 to a division) and about 50 British.

The British are retiring in an orderly way allowing the Germans to expend their forces and to suffer tremendous losses of men, it being figured that the Germans are losing 100,000 men a day. While the Germans are making gains in territory there is absolutely no intimation in British reports or official circles that the situation is regarded as desperate, a feeling of optimism prevailing although it is a very anxious time.

It is expected that it will be some time before the situation fully develops and in the meantime it is almost impossible to give detailed statements of operations, although it is thought that Amiens is the objective point of the Huns. If they should by any means reach this objective both Paris and the Channel ports would be in danger.

One of the biggest wonders of the present offensive is the use of some kind of a gun or other machine which is bombarding Paris at a distance of between 60 and 70 miles, which is the closest that the Germans are to that city. Shells have been dropped every 20 minutes in the city, but the French are taking things very coolly.

All kinds of rumours are being spread especially in favor of the Germans, but as they have proved themselves such liars when a report of this kind is heard it will be best to treat them with a certain amount of skepticism. The best Allied and American critics and military men, who should know conditions, are all showing great confidence that eventually the British will come through all right.

Fill Out and File Income Tax Forms

Income War Tax Forms must be filed before March 31st.

It was inevitable that an income war tax should have been placed on the statute books. The growing demands made upon Canada, as one of the free nations of the world, engaged in the life and death battle with the forces of barbarism, and the necessity of distributing the burden as equitably as possible, made the imposition of a tax, based on the ability to pay, merely a matter of time.

All the great nations engaged in the conflict have found it necessary to make the income tax one of their principal sources of revenue. Among the more striking evidences of the will to win in these times of sacrifice, is the spirit with which the people of Great Britain—upon whose shoulders rests the major portion of the war's financial burden—are going about the work of supplying the sinews of war. The people of France and the United States are as cheerfully doing their part and it is a foregone conclusion that the people of Canada, already inured to sacrifice, will make of the income tax an opportunity to serve the holiest cause which has ever engaged the attention of mankind.

Like the fathers of the American Revolution, the free peoples of the earth have dedicated their lives, their fortunes and their sacred honor, to the cause which they espouse. The call upon the fortunes of the people of Canada is to take the form of a graduated tax on all incomes of $1,500 and over enjoyed by all unmarried persons, or widows and widowers without dependent children, and of $3,000 and over, enjoyed by all other persons, as well as by all corporations and joint stock companies.

The Department of Finance is now calling for the filing of the necessary forms, filled out as required, before the 31st of March. While penalties for failure to carry out the requirements of the act are provided, it is confidently expected that the people of Canada, jealous of their right to play a major role in the conflict, will respond to this latest call in a spirit of pure patriotism.

The Mobilization of Farm Labor

The Department of Agriculture is localizing the work of the Provincial Labor Bureau by establishing offices in different parts of the Province. Offices are already open at Edmonton, Calgary, Lethbridge and Medicine Hat, and an office will be opened at Red Deer on April 1st.

It will be the business of the officials at these points to secure as complete information as possible as to needs and to distribute available labor to meet the needs. Farmers should write to the agent of the Labor Bureau at the nearest point stating their wants, the special work to be done, and the wages they are prepared to pay. Those desiring work may likewise write telling what work they are prepared to do and the wages expected.

A special function of the local bureaus will be the enlistment of those not necessarily accustomed to farm work, both men and women, who are prepared to go out for the season or for shorter periods, especially (Continued on last page) by local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure catarrhal deafness, and that is by a continuous remedy. Catarrhal Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a running sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result. Unless the inflammation can be removed and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be lost forever. Many cases of deafness are caused by catarrh, which is an inflamed condition of the mucous membrane of the Eustachian tube. Hall's Catarrh Cure cures it. It is the only medicine that can be put into the tube and reach the inflamed surface of the tube.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Catarrhal Deafness that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Circulars free. All Druggists, 75c.

Manitoba Exporting Nursery Stock

A comparatively new departure for Manitoba nurserymen, last year according to the report of the Manitoba Agricultural College, was the exportation of nursery stock to the United States. During 1917 a quantity of hardy Manitoba grown stock was shipped over the border for use in the northern states. No doubt this could be developed to a fairly large industry, as northern-grown stock will undoubtedly give good results farther south.

No one need endure the agony of corns with Holloway's Corn Cure at hand to remove them.

Old Prophecy Fulfilled

An ancient prophecy was fulfilled in the fall of Riga, says the A. P. correspondent at Stockholm. Two years ago the Russians took away from the city a number of valuable bronze and copper articles. Among them was an ancient church bell, around whose rim ran the following inscription in old German: "He who moves me from my place will lose Riga."

The World in the Furnace

Learning to See the Future in a New Perspective

There is no thought in our own country at least, of surrendering the ideal of abandoning the purpose with which we went into the war, but we are learning to see the future in a new perspective. We have begun for the first time to realize the world as a whole. The settlement for which we look is to be a settlement conceived in the interests of no single nation, nor for the calculated detriment of any single nation. The world has been cast into the furnace, fragment by fragment. It must emerge welded into an unbroken whole. It is that resolve that has given the gospel of a League of Nations its impetus in every land, that is impelling labor to refrain at international council of democracy and stirring even the Christian nation of the Christian churches to an incipient attempt to reassert the universality of the religion they have preached for two thousand years. The spread of that spirit will not yet end the war, but it will at least spread the soil for the rebuilding of a world that shall be in reality and truth a world set free—London Daily News.

Ringworm on Child's Head

Caused Great Distress and Spread to Neck and Ears—Cure Was Speedily Effected When Right Treatment Was Recommended.

There is no disease of the skin more obstinate than ringworm, and the mother who writes this letter does so fully realizing what it will mean to other anxious mothers to know about Dr. Chase's Ointment.

This remarkable cure was brought about two years ago, and as there has been no return of the distressing disease there can be no doubt that the cure is permanent.

Mrs. D. Stebbins, Grand Bend, Ont., writes: "I am going to tell you of my experience with Dr. Chase's Ointment. My little girl had some corns on her head which looked like ringworms. They were spreading fast, and I tried home treatment, but nothing helped her. I took her to the doctor, and he opened some of the sores, which were as big as the yolk of an egg. The sores he gave me to put on was very severe, and the poor child would cry for an hour or more after an application. For six weeks it continued to spread all over her head, and came down to her neck and ears. She suffered terribly. At last some kind ladies told me about Dr. Chase's Ointment, so I got a box, and the first time I put it on she was relieved of pain, and the second time the swelling was all gone. Before we had finished the first box the sores were nearly all gone. I have told all the people around here about your Ointment, and I cannot praise it too much. It is now two years since my little girl was troubled in this way, and it never came back, so you can see she is completely cured. You are at liberty to use this statement for the benefit of others who may be suffering in a similar manner."

Joseph Brainer, J. L., endorses this statement as follows: "This is to certify that I am personally acquainted with Mrs. D. Stebbins, of Grand Bend, Ont., and believe her statement with reference to Dr. Chase's Ointment to be true and correct."

The Case of Belgium

It is still as important as ever that the case of Belgium should be regarded as precedent to peace negotiations. The enemy have never acknowledged the wrong they perpetrated in attacking Belgium, and we must have confession, with full guarantees for restoration and reparation before we can enter into negotiations with the enemy. If proof of this is required, it will be found in the fact that the pan-Germans are still proclaiming that "Belgium must be made to lie flat politically, militarily and economically in Germany's hand."—The Scotsman.

A Unique Concert
A description of a unique concert which I have read in the Daily News and Leader deserves to be rescued from oblivion. In one of the prisoners' camps are a number of Russian musicians, who have formed a chorus and an orchestra, which are apparently so good that the inhabitants of the nearest towns were anxious to hear them. The commander of the camp accordingly agreed to allow them to give a concert of Russian sacred music in the principal church of the town. Germany always has an eye to business nowadays, and the takings, which were considerable, were devoted to the benefit—not of the Russian prisoners, but of German prisoners in Russia. Among the singers, I see, were two who have appeared with the Russian opera company at Drury Lane.

The Nemesis of Germany

The remark of a French officer that history will prove to be the German's worst foe is a true and profound one. The lack of honor, of faith, of truth, of all moral and humane considerations, will stand against that race for generations to come, and make their dealings with other nations exceedingly difficult. For years in the future they will be feared, hated and despised, and it will be a herculean task to regain the place in world public opinion which their present leaders have so wantonly forfeited.—Baltimore American.

We have been using MINARD'S LINIMENT in our home for a number of years and use no other Liniment but MINARD'S, and we can recommend it highly for sprains, bruises, pains or tightness of the chest, soreness of the throat, headache or anything of that sort. We will not be without it one single day, for we get a new bottle before the other is all used. I can recommend it highly to anyone.

A Foe to Asthma. Give Asthma half a chance and it gains ground rapidly. But give it repeated treatments of Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Asthma Remedy and it will fall back even faster. Have it by you for ready use.

The Reason Why

The main difficulty in the way of the Kaiser's protecting the United States against the world is that the hated British navy won't let him.—Washington Post.

Minard's Liniment Relieves Neuralgia.

Arrangements are being made which, it is hoped, will result in the services of prisoners of war being made available for British farmers in small numbers.

SELF DEFENSE

DEFEAT BACKACHE AND KIDNEY TROUBLE WITH ANURIC.

Many people in Canada have suffered from rheumatism and kidney trouble and have found Anuric to be the most successful remedy to overcome these painful and dangerous ailments.

The lucky people are those who have heeded Nature's warning signal in time to correct their trouble with that new discovery of Dr. Pierce's called "Anuric." You should promptly heed these warnings, some of which are dizzy spells, headache, irregularity of the urine or the painful twinges of rheumatism, sciatica or lumbago. To delay may make possible the dangerous forms of kidney disease, such as diabetes or stone in the bladder.

To overcome these distressing conditions you should take plenty of exercise in the open air, avoid a heavy meat diet, drink freely of water and at each meal take Dr. Pierce's Anuric Tablets (double strength). You will, in a short time, find that you are one of the firm indorsees of Anuric, as are many of your neighbors.

Send Dr. V. M. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., or Bridgeburg, Ont., 10c for trial pkg. St. Catharines, Ont.

For several years I suffered with gravel and with uric acid, causing rheumatic pains. Nothing ever helped me until I commenced to take "Anuric," and the first thing I noticed was that the gravel had disappeared and has never made a reappearance. My general health has improved and I have a better nerve condition and my eyesight seems better, too. I used to have such dizzy spells at times I thought I would faint, but these no longer trouble me. My only regret is that I did not know of Anuric before.

Bakers Helping

Food Controller

Expressed Their Willingness to Do Anything in Their Power to Help

The bakers of Canada are co-operating with the food controller in an effort to bring about a saving in the consumption of wheat flour in the Dominion, so that larger quantities may be released for export to the Allies overseas. At the annual meeting of the Ontario Bread and Cake Manufacturers' association, held in Toronto lately, Professor K. Harecourt, head of the department of chemistry, Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph, represented the food controller. The bakers expressed their willingness to do anything in their power to help in the attainment of the food controller's objects. A committee was appointed to draft resolutions outlining the views of the association.

A WOMAN'S HEALTH

Can Only Be Maintained by Keeping the Blood Rich and Pure

The woman at home, deep in household duties and the cares of motherhood, needs occasional help to keep her in good health. The demands upon a mother's health are many and severe. Her own health trials and her children's welfare exact heavy tolls, while hurried meals, broken rest and much indoor living tend to weaken her constitution. No wonder that the woman at home is often indisposed through weakness, headache, backaches and nervousness. Too many women have proven to accept these visitations as a part of the lot of motherhood. But many and varied as her health troubles are, the cause is simple and the cure at hand. When well, it is the woman's good blood that keeps her well; when ill she must make her blood rich to renew her health. The nursing mother more than any other woman in the world needs rich blood and plenty of it. There is one always untailing way to get this good blood so necessary to perfect health, and that is through the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. These pills make new blood abundantly, and through their use thousands of weak, ailing wives and mothers have been made bright, cheerful and strong. If you are ailing, easily tired, or depressed, it is a duty you owe yourself and your family to give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a fair trial. What this medicine has done for others it will surely do for you.

Mrs. W. H. Alberty, Matertown, Ont., says:—"I was very much run down and suffered from weakness and nervousness. At times I did not know what to do, as I would shake all over, and would have to go and lie down. I was treated by several doctors, who said the trouble was bad blood and weak nerves, but they did not do me a bit of good. I was advised to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and they made me feel like a new woman. Later when I was nursing my baby, I felt run down, and again took the pills, and my baby at six months weighed thirty-five pounds. It was this medicine that gave me the strength to nurse him, and both baby and myself greatly benefited by it. I hope every suffering woman will give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a fair trial as I did, for I have proved their wonderful merit." You can get these pills through any medicine dealer or by mail postpaid at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

After the Proposal

She—Yes, Jack dear, but you must ask father's consent.
He—You ask him. You know him better than I do.

With so thorough a preparation at hand as Miller's Worm Powders the mother who allows her children to suffer from the ravages of worms is unwise and culpably careless. A child subjected to the attacks of worms is always unhealthy and will be stunted in its growth. It is a merciful act to rid it of these destructive parasites, especially when it can be done without difficulty.

Some Going

An Outward Sign of the Wealth of Saskatchewan

The number of automobiles in Saskatchewan at the end of the past year totalled 32,000—an increase of a hundred per cent. over 1916.

Saskatchewan has almost one-third of the total number of automobiles in Canada, according to the statistics issued by the automobile industry at the end of the year. Yet Saskatchewan has only one-tenth of the population of the Dominion.

Saskatchewan has as many automobiles in proportion to her population as the United States—once car to every twenty-four people is the standing in the United States just now, and that is the standing in Saskatchewan, too. No other country has anything like a proportionate number.

One reason for this condition is the fact that Saskatchewan has the money, field and garden crops, and dairy products in the past year brought this province over $350,000,000, and increased value of live stock brought the total over $400,000,000 for the year.—Saskatoon Star.

CAN WE GET NATURAL GAS.

In view of the fact that the cost of operation of the electric light plant has increased so much during the last year or two, largely because of heavy increases in the cost of fuel, the fact that there is a seepage of gas of some kind at the well at the electric light plant, which has existed for some time, is worth while investigating. If the signs of natural gas are such as to warrant the expenditure of a small sum for the purposes of securing the services of an expert to come here and give us his opinion in the matter the Council will be justified in securing such advice and they would be backed up by the ratepayers. Now is the time to get busy as another winter season will soon slip around and it is altogether likely that it will cost considerably more another winter to operate the plant than it has done during the last season, and the ratepayers will have to foot the bill. If there is any possibility of securing gas the advantages are so great that if our tax rate had to be increased a few mills to pay for installing the same it would more than compensate us for the little extra that it would cost us to install the necessary appliances and for boring the well because the saving in the fuel bill alone, outside of the extra revenue which could be secured from piping the gas into town and using it for cooking and heating purposes, would perhaps go a long way to clearing off the indebtedness of the light plant.

There is and has been a suggestion for some years that a smaller unit be installed to take care of the light load during the late hours of the night, which would help out on the fuel question. This suggestion is all right but under the present circumstances is almost impossible to carry out, and besides would not relieve the situation nearly so well as natural gas. In the first place it has been known for some time that the necessary machinery to install this small unit is very hard indeed to secure; and in the second the cost of such machinery is almost prohibitive, as the companies who formerly manufactured this machinery are nearly all engaged in war work of some kind and are not manufacturing this machinery in very big quantities, and then only where it is absolutely necessary for them to supply it.

As we said before we believe that the Council would be fully justified in making an effort in finding out at once the possibilities at the plant as regards natural gas and if there is a chance of securing such a great natural commodity it should be taken advantage of as soon as possible.

A Ford Car Takes the Place of all These Things

WHEN you own a Ford you can do away with many articles that are a source of continuous expense to the man who still drives a horse. For instance, not only your driving-horse and buggy, but the single harness, blankets, whips, currycombs, brushes, horse-shoes, pitch-forks, feed-bins, etc.

In their place you have a speedy, dependable, dignified, roomy Ford Car—complete in itself. It is vastly superior to the narrow, cramped buggy that travels so slowly. And when a Ford is standing idle it does not eat three meals a day, and it requires no "looking after."

A Ford will save you time, trouble, and money. It is the utility car for the busy farmer and his family.

Carmen's Messenger

— BY —
HAROLD BINDLOSS

WARD, LOCK & CO., LIMITED
London, Melbourne, and Toronto

By and by he went to the smoking room and lighting a cigarette, he thought over what Carmen had said to him. At first she had seemed anxious to find out something about Featherstone, but he was not surprised by this. Carmen liked to know as much as possible about everybody she met, and used her knowledge cleverly when it was to her advantage. The other matter was more puzzling and he wondered why she wanted to send a packet secretly to a man as old as her father. It might, of course, be a caprice, because girls were fond of mystery, but, as a rule, Carmen had a practical object for what she did. She had stated that they had friends in England, and this might mean that she had a lover. Perhaps she had exaggerated his age, and in any case, Foster thought it would not be a great drawback if the man were powerful and rich. Carmen was rather ambitious than romantic.

Her plans, however, were not his business, and he felt no jealousy. He liked Carmen and had some respect for her abilities, but thought he would sooner not marry her, even if she were willing, which was most improbable. Since he had promised to take the packet, he would do so and say nothing about the matter.

He left the hall early, and driving home found his partner sitting by the stove.

"Was Daly at the reunion?" Featherstone asked.

Foster said he was there, and Featherstone resumed thoughtfully: "It's curious he hasn't come to the mill yet, but if he doesn't turn up before Thursday, he'll be too late. I'll be ready to start with you by the afternoon train, and as there's no use in spoiling a good plan for a few dollars, I'll buy a ticket and check my baggage to Ottawa. Then I'll get off at Srepton Creek, where I won't have long to wait if the west-bound train's on time. You can express my things on from Ottawa. The Montreal express stops about an hour."

"That ought to throw Daly off the track," Foster agreed, and they talked about something else.

IV.

The First Adventure

It was about ten o'clock at night and the Montreal express sped through the lonely forests of North Ontario. The train was light, for there were few passengers on board and the road was by no means good, but in spite of the jolting Foster enjoyed his cigarette in a corner of the smoking compartment at the end of a car. A colored porter had told him his berth in the sleeper was ready, Featherstone had left the train, and most of the passengers were already in bed, but Foster did not want to follow them just yet. For a time he had done with business, and was on his way to England. He relished the unusual sense of freedom.

A half moon shone down upon the rugged wilderness, and he could see the black pines rush past. The cars lurched and he heard the great locomotive snort on the inclines. Now and then there was a roar as they sped across a bridge, and water glimmered among the rocks below; afterwards the roar sank into a steady clatter and a soothing throb of wheels. The car was warm, and Foster, who had given the porter his overcoat, was lighting another cigarette when a man came in and sat down opposite. He looked hard at Foster, who quietly returned his gaze. The man was about his own height but some years older, and his expression was disturbed.

Foster felt interested. He had faced danger in the northern wilderness, where he had risked starvation and travelled on frozen rivers when the ice was breaking up. Besides he had once or twice been involved in savage fights about disputed mining claims, and knew how men looked when they bore a heavy strain. He thought the stranger was afraid but was not a coward.

"You're going to Ottawa, aren't you? I heard you talking to your friend," said the man.

"I'm going to Montreal, but don't see what that has to do with you."

The other made a sign of impatience. "Well, I dare say you can be trusted, and I've got to take a risk."

"It is a risk to trust a man you don't know," Foster rejoined. "But how can I help?"

"I want you to put on my coat and cap and stay here, reading the Witness, for about ten minutes." "Holding the newspaper in front of my face, I suppose? Well, it's rather an unusual request and I must know a little more. If there's a detective on your trail and you expect me to hold his attention while you hide or try to jump off the train, I must refuse."

The stranger smiled. "I've wired for the police to meet me at Ottawa; the trouble is that I mayn't get there. Time won't allow of a long explanation, but there are men on board who'd stop at nothing to prevent my arrival. In fact, to some extent, I'm putting my life in your hands."

Foster looked at him, surprised. He had not expected an adventure of this kind on a Canadian Pacific train, but did not think the other was exaggerating.

"How many men?" he asked.

"I've seen one, but know there are more."

"Then why not tell the conductor and have the train searched?"

"It wouldn't work. I might find one enemy, but I'd warn the others that I was on my guard, and to let them think I suspect no danger is the best chance I have. The conductor's making his way up the train and I'm going to see if he can get me into the express car. It's the only safe place; the clerks are armed. Well, my business is lawful and in the public interest and I take you for a patriotic citizen."

Foster saw that he must decide quickly. Somehow he did not doubt the man, who kept his eyes on the door as if he expected somebody to come in. Moreover, he expected to be met by the police at Ottawa.

"It looks as if I'd run your risk when I put on your coat," he said.

"The porter's sweeping up the car, and if you keep the door open you'll be safe while he's about. Besides, if I can't get into the express car, I'll come back. Give me ten minutes, and then, if I don't turn up and you feel uneasy, take off the coat and put the newspaper down."

"Very well," said Foster. "Perhaps you had better take my hat."

The stranger gave him his heavy fur coat. "I'll ask you for it at Ottawa. You're going to Montreal. What's your name?"

Save Food

In a time needing food economy many people are not getting all the nourishment they might from their food.

It is not how much you eat, but how much you assimilate, that does you good.

The addition of a small teaspoonful of Bovril to the diet as a peptogenic before meals leads to more thorough digestion and assimilation and thus saves food, for you need less.

5-18A

Foster told him and he resumed: "Then, if you don't see me, stop at the Windsor, where I can telegraph in a day or two. You'll be repaid for any expense or inconvenience. Well, I'm going. Thanks!"

"Good luck!" said Foster, who sat down and opened the Witness.

Now he was alone, he began to wonder if he had been imposed upon. The man, however, did not look like a criminal; though alarmed, he had an air of quiet authority. In a sense, it seemed absurd that he should think himself in danger. Violence was not common in Canada, where the carrying of weapons was prohibited, and Foster had never heard of any sensational crime on the big expresses. Still he thought the man would not be afraid without good cause.

A resolution of confidence in the food controller was passed at a meeting held in Brandon, Manitoba, under the auspices of the Local Council of Women.

Improvements in Egg Production

A Few Poor Birds Greatly Reduce the Average of the Good Ones

The efforts of the poultrymen in managing the laying flock should not only be concentrated upon present production, but upon means and methods of increasing future production. Improvements in this line necessitate a close study of the individual, for it is the individual which makes the average, and a few poor birds greatly reduce the average of the good ones. In a flock of 100 hens it will be found that on the average 10 to 30 per cent. rarely lay an egg during the profitable months of the year, and another small percentage may be barren, while the remainder are fairly good layers. The only way is to weed out the poor layers and keep only the best. It often pays better to take one hundred hens out of a flock of one hundred and fifty, after which, with less labor, one can get nearly as many eggs and a much more profitable yield per bird.

Where the selection is not made, the poor birds are fed at the expense of the better ones. Improvement can come largely through the union of two factors: (1) Rigid selection at the end of the pullet year, and the mating of a breeding pen from the best birds. (2) By producing relatively early hatches and selecting rigidly throughout the season, keeping only the best youngsters for future production.

How to Avoid a Cold

The idea is to make every muscle of the body tense. The hands can be kept straight at the sides, with the muscles perfectly rigid. Every muscle of the body should be rigid, and in that condition you will soon find that you are breathing hard. When deep breaths are taken the whole circulation is stimulated. It is possible to sit still, and at the same time have the muscles working as hard as though one were running to catch a train.

If we would remember these points when we feel a chill or a draft we have the word of our physician that we need not fear a cold. —Regina Leader.

HUNS ADVOCATING PREPAREDNESS FOR THE GREAT WAR TO FOLLOW

SAY THAT GREAT BRITAIN MUST BE CONQUERED

Recent German Publications Show the Effect the Sword-Rattlers
Are Having on the Minds of the People in Enemy Countries,
For Whom Peace Talk has no Real Meaning

Sword rattling has been elevated into a religion in Germany, writes Julian Grande from Berne, Switzerland, to the New York Times, and he warns those persons who want "peace by understanding" that Germany, far from being cured of the war spirit, is actually educating her people to the necessity of another war to follow this one.

This "next war" literature advocates six main ideas concerning the desirability of war for itself. They are:

- (1) War and its good moral influence are praised and enthusiastically dwelt upon, especially because of their being of such assistance in promoting civilization.
- (2) The idea of universal peace is scoffed at and contempt poured upon advocates.
- (3) Every possible argument is adduced for the increase of armaments after the war.
- (4) Certain of these publications stated in them that preparations must already be begun for this future war.
- (5) Hell on earth and hatred to all men.
- (6) Do unto others as you suspect that they might do unto you if they ever get to be as disreputable as you are.

The most assiduous of the German sword rattlers are the German professors. Professor Rudolph Eucken of Jena argues that war and civilization are not opposed as might appear to be the case. This learned doctor asserts that war destroys all shams and brings truth to light; it preserves people from artificiality and effeminacy; it causes the regeneration of mankind and the rejuvenation of civilization.

Another man, Professor E. Brandenburg, in a book called "Germany's Aims in the War," published only last year, concludes that the world's history follows natural laws and not ethical laws. This gentleman is of the opinion that a court of law for the decision of international disputes would be a serious obstacle to healthy progress. After the war Germany must continue to pile up armaments in order to insure her future. "In future Germany must be more strongly armed than ever, both at sea and on land."

Other German professors write in the same strain. One of them says that "Pacifism is madness," and that "the German people cannot be too strongly warned against pacifism." This gentleman adds the following as to the relationship between nations: "What we want is not to make moral conquests in the world, but that the world should fear us. Between individual human beings love is the surest basis for union and peace, but between individual nations it is force and force only."

A commercial authority, in a book called "Peace Time Problems," points out that Britain must be conquered and brought low. Britain is to be the object of Germany's next war.

German divines, far from condemning this doctrine, are quite in accord with it. A collection of fourteen war sermons, published in 1917, actually contains the assertion that "we Germans" can advance only by the "force of our arms."

All this literature has been gathered and its trend noted in a publication issued by Dr. F. Lifschitz, a professor in Berne University, Switzerland. He shows, in his article, that the process of educating the Teutonic mind as to the necessity of further wars to follow the present one, is already being put into active operation. As the writer in The New York Times points out, peace by understanding means nothing more or less than a German peace, and a German peace means a more or less temporary armistice to last until Germany has completed her preparations for the "next war."

First Ode to the Kaiser

Diabolic Inversions of the Truth and Decency as Expounded
by the Hun

George Ade has come to the support of the committee on national defence and issued a sort of primer for those who run and read, setting out Kultur and the ethics of the Kaiser as the celebrated author of "Fables in Slang" sees them. With all their humor they are true to type as wit can make them.

Dishonesty is the best policy. Blessed are the child-murderers, for they shall inherit the earth. Be sure you are right hardy with firearms, then go ahead. An evil reputation is better than riches.

Truth crushed to earth will not rise again if the crushing is done in a superior and efficient manner.

Three armed is he who goes around picking quarrels. Might makes right.

Hell on earth and hatred to all men.

Do unto others as you suspect that they might do unto you if they ever get to be as disreputable as you are.

Gods helps the man that helps himself to his neighbor's house and his fields and his unprotected women.

These apt apothegms of Kultur are put into practice every day as the news despatches prove. And with many, Ade's nonsense will be more efficacious as an argument than the indictments of less humorously inclined writers. But he overlooks the one great commandment of Kultur, which is the keynote of the whole campaign of world conquest, and that is "Do others first and explain afterwards." This is the first, the last, and the main of all their other diabolic inversions of truth and decency.—Philadelphia Public Ledger.

Poland as a Bone of Contention

May Yet Cause Trouble Between Germany and Austria

Poland may yet cause trouble between Germany and Austria. The Tagliche Rundschau describes the proposed Polish settlement as "an astonishing demand upon the nerves, patience and good humor of the German nation." It continues:

"If the Hapsburg Kaiser of Austria is, with our approval, to be crowned king of Poland, then the last trace of any German rights or influence in Poland will have vanished. We shall ourselves have done what no power in the world could have otherwise done, and our troops in Poland will only be Hapsburg police and our three years' sacrifices will have been made, not for ourselves, but for other people. Our position in Poland at the general peace conference will have been completely thrown away. Who has the courage to do this fearful thing. Not a chancellor, for in reality we have no chancellor, but only an irresponsible foreign secretary. It is he, Kuchemann, who during the interregnum of twilight between the old and the new era has been busy with his friend Czernin deciding Germany's fate. What could be more fatal than a Hapsburg Poland? It would, too, be a thorn in the flesh between us and Austria-Hungary."

"She hasn't kept pace with her husband." "What do you mean? Hasn't she been able to spend his money as fast as his salary was raised?"—Detroit Free Press.

"Castles in the Air"

Viennese Paper Says Hope of a
Peace Imposed by the World
Is Fallacious

Proofs multiply of the war weariness and disillusionment of Austrians. The cables report an outbreak of criticism of the war party, but this is nothing new. In November one of the principal Viennese papers, Die Zeit, in an article headed "Castles in the Air," dismissed as wholly futile and incapable of accomplishment the program of the war party in Germany and Austria.

Any one, says the Zeit, who, like so many persons in Germany today, but, fortunately, not so many in Austria, still believes in the possibility of a peace imposed by force and the sword must have profited absolutely not at all by the lessons of this war. A peace dictated by Austria and Germany to the rest of the world is the last link in a chain of notions which have one after the other proved false. At the outset of the war, says the Zeit, it was not unreasonable to have hoped for an Austro-German peace imposed by force. "Above all, we had then far fewer avowed enemies than now." But, as is admitted with engaging frankness, early in the war Austria and Germany hoped to win neutrals to their way of thinking. Germany, in particular, laid herself out, with no less zeal than confidence to win neutrals to her cause, firmly convinced that "if only our cause were sufficiently well explained to them neutrals would undoubtedly turn to us, and especially to Germany."

"Most hopes of all were built upon America, which was considered as the leading power among neutrals, and with its help it was hoped to win over the other neutrals. Bales upon bales of propaganda writings were despatched to neutral countries for the time of scarcity of paper had not arrived. . . . It was all of no avail. We have not won over a single neutral country." On the contrary, concludes Die Zeit, even countries which have hitherto remained neutral "are no longer able to conceal their aversion to our cause and their positive hatred of the German empire."

Another "castle in the air" was the notion that the central empires were self-sufficient and did not need trade or communications with the rest of the world. "We were assured," says Die Zeit, by all those whom it reverently stigmatizes as fools, "that Turkey would supply us with any quantity of raw materials; that Egypt had endless supplies of cotton; that in Anatolia there were unlimited stocks of wheat and minerals, finally, that everything any one could possibly want was to be had in abundance in Mesopotamia." The only drawback to the Egyptian cotton was that Turkey had first to reconquer Egypt from England. A disadvantage of the Anatolian wheat and ore was the absence of means of transport, while a somewhat serious drawback to the Mesopotamian supplies of "everything" was that Mesopotamia first required irrigation, and, secondly, that the British were there, sitting tight, and apparently disinclined to move.

Finally, there was a third "castle in the air," a castle based upon the last two—the enforced peace. After the war, Die Zeit clearly perceives that "We Austrians" will have "to resume commercial relations with our enemies, avowed and unavowed, but it is no more possible to compel these than to compel love."

"Good Night, Ladies!"

Americans in the Trenches are Not to Be Set Dreaming of Fair
Unknowns

General Pershing has put a ban on romance by his urging that the Soldiers' Godmothers' League cease its organized attempt to introduce into the American army the institution of Fillard and Mairaine. He adduces as his chief reason that the correspondence between lonely soldiers in France and their godmothers on one side of the water would clog the transport of necessary mail and supplies. His secondary reason is that he does not want his soldiers corresponding with strange women. Perhaps he means to imply that information of use to the enemy might be obtained by spies in this manner. Perhaps he is thinking of the proprieties. In any case, the American army and people are to be robbed of a highly picturesque feature of the war. Men in the trenches are not to be set dreaming of fair unknowns; ladies of all ages are not to have the fun of petting some huge bear of a person three thousand miles away. General Pershing has taken the joy out of army letters. On the other hand, he has reduced the possibility of disillusionment when Fillard meets Mairaine.—New York Evening Post.

Chinamen still observe the religious ceremony of "feeding the dead." The food is intended as a propitiatory offering to the Chinese evil spirit. The offerings vary according to the habits and tastes of the occupants of the graves.

What a Hun Officer Saw

Enemy Troops Have Terrifying Experience
Dodging British Shells

The following extracts from the diary of an officer in charge of a relieving company of German infantry are authentic. They are interesting as giving a glimpse at the attitude and feelings of the enemy.

The company is to go into the line, and starts at 9:30 p.m. "Light machine guns are distributed. The close combat troops are given signal cloths and very light ammunition."

"It is raining, and very dark. Forward march at ease, and the company starts on its way."

"Platoons march separately, at one hundred yards distance, as the road is not safe."

"There is little shelling and everyone is alone with his thoughts."

"We are passing through a pretty and fairly large town. Not a soul at the windows, which have no panes. Here and there a house destroyed by shell fire. Our footsteps echo mournfully on the pavement."

"Violent artillery fire makes the air quiver as we cross the market place, which has been torn by shells. We have reached the cross roads where the road branches. We turn down from here, and the order is given, 'In single file, right turn.' Each man takes his position behind his leader, and we form one long line."

"It is wiser to march this way, as like this we present less of a target. Ten minutes later a six-inch shell explodes behind us with a terrific crash, spurring us mud sky high."

"The fuse flies off, winding a trail of light in its flight. A second shell falls thirty yards in front of us in a farmyard. I give the order, 'At the double,' and we start running."

"Left and right shells are falling, and it appears to us that the English are observing us, so do shells and shrapnel pursue us, often exploding in bare ten yards from us in the mud, showering filth and stones on us. 'At the double all the time,' I urge on the men, who, laden with their heavy packs, appear only to crawl, and are bathed in perspiration."

"How the air crackles, hisses howls and whines when a heavy shell cleaves it. Involuntarily everyone stops dead, waiting for it to explode in our midst."

"We pass three battery pits—that is to say, they used to be good, concrete dugouts; now they are destroyed, having been blown up at the time of the great retreat in this area. Our heavies could not be brought back over the shell-torn ground, so they had to be destroyed."

"We all believed that the English would push on further, but they contented themselves with the high ground. They have a wonderful position there, leaving us destroyed shelters and dugouts to the south of it."

"We establish posts. The troops we have relieved start back. These dugouts are dark caves and holes. No one can lie down in them, or even stretch out their legs. Everyone wants to get under shelter. Several crouch together in a corner. 'It is wretchedly cold!'"

Here an end. Our people took the diarist before he wrote any more.

Alfalfa in B. C.

Fine Alfalfa Seed Is Grown in British Columbia

Seed experts who have visited the Okanagan Valley, British Columbia, in the last two years have suggested that this climate should lend itself excellently to seed-raising. It has already been demonstrated what can be done in selecting and saving corn for seed purposes and now a very satisfactory experiment with alfalfa seed saving has just been completed at Kelowna, British Columbia. Last year Casorso Bros. saved a small plot of alfalfa for seed and this year reserved a field of about three acres for this purpose. This crop has just been threshed by the government seed-huller and the results are very satisfactory.

The crop threshed out 900 lbs. of good seed, and it is estimated that the value of the alfalfa straw will nearly cover the cost of production, so that the seed at present prices would yield a good profit.

Horse Breeders' Clubs

In Western Canada there are approximately 70 Horse Breeders' Clubs with federal assistance; 15 of these are in Manitoba, about 40 in Saskatchewan, and about 15 in Alberta. It is expected that a great many will be formed in various districts this winter, since those that have been inaugurated are so enthusiastic over the results obtained.

There is the factor of which too much has been made in the past and not nearly enough is made in the present. It is the economic factor. Both parties to this great struggle, even if we only now consider them as the western alliance vs. the central empires, are under a great economic strain. Labor has been withdrawn from the fields on either side. One side has oversea supplies, but finds communication by sea increasingly difficult. Each might argue, if it were a question of merely pleading one's own case, that the other was under a greater economic strain than he. But the fact remains that, whereas the Allies have complete resources—though these resources have to be husbanded and regulated—the central empires have incomplete resources; they are debarrd from tropical products of every kind. They cannot get rubber, for instance; they are and will remain short of certain essentials of which the most important is fats—both for lubrication and for food—fats they will continue to lack in a degree far greater than we lack them.

Again, the mere man-power for production, with a margin over and above the man-power necessary for the field, is heavily in favor of the Allies. It is true that the United States cannot keep any very large force in Europe, because a very large force 3,000 miles from its source of supply requires a corresponding amount of tonnage (say six tons a man) and the tonnage does not yet exist. But what the Allies have got is a margin or surplus of human beings able to mine, to forge, to carpenter, to plow, and the rest, much greater than the central empires, even with the population they have enslaved, can discover.

The conclusion is that though for some little time to come the western alliance will again be thrown—short of political accidents which cannot be forecast—upon the defensive, its margin of supply upon which everything ultimately depends is greater and will more and more be greater, than that of its enemy. The enemy knows that, and Allied public opinion should be instructed upon it. It means that if we pass with tenacity the straits of the present winter the next year should be in our favor.—From Land and Water.

British Farmers are After Sports

Are sheep to be sacrificed to grouse? The question is raised by a writer in the British Agricultural Gazette, and it is declared that "the keepers object strongly to shepherds claiming the right to a free pass over the moors. Thousands of sheep, the writer adds, are thus bullied off their natural feeding grounds."

But there are prospects that this state of affairs will be righted as the result of the agitation through Britain. "From Chapel-en-le-Frith to Doncaster, meetings have been held to consider the matter, and these local efforts, supported by the Sheep Breeders' association, give promise that this folly, committed in the name of sport, will be ended now, and it is to be hoped, for all time."

Japan's Trade

Reaping the benefit of the elimination of Germany from commercial competition, Japan has enjoyed great prosperity during the last two years. She has now entered the piano trade, and is exporting an upright at the price of one hundred and thirty-five dollars. Five hundred pianos have already been exported to Australia.

CHEAP FISH

The government by a recent arrangement with the fishing companies has inaugurated a campaign for the greater consumption of Pacific deep sea fish at a price of about 10c per pound to conserve meats.

These fish are flat fish and cod-fish other than black cod or sablefish and halibut. They are excellent good fishes, the equal in food value, pound for pound, of fish flesh, of halibut and salmon or of beef, mutton or pork and are delicious when properly cooked.

The objective is at least one pound of fish a week for every adult. The aim being to effect a more general consumption of fish in place of beef and pork that are needed by our Allies and our sons in the trenches.

It should be everybody's duty to see that a fish diet is established in their homes, and no doubt if the local dealers have a demand for this cheap food which is so close to our doors they will make arrangements to get in a supply fresh weekly, but it cannot be expected that they will lay in this supply unless the demand warrants as the price is exceedingly low and loss to them through spoilage would be quite heavy.

False Impression of R.F.C. Rules is Corrected

Lieut. MacNamara, the officer in charge of recruiting for the Royal Flying Corps in this district, has written us, asking us to correct the false impressions held by many men who come under the Military Service Act, that they must wait until they have been drafted into a Depot Battalion before they can make application to join the Royal Flying Corps.

On the contrary a man who is liable to draft should make application at once, in order that the necessary steps may be taken for his immediate enlistment into the Royal Flying Corps.

Further information may be obtained from the nearest representative who is Mr. T. W. Cuncannon, Union Bank of Canada, Didsbury, Alta.

You need not send away for that printing, the Pioneer office is well equipped for the work.

A Local Company Re-organizes

WILL ENLARGE PLANT AND MAKE IT A SUPPLY DEPOT

Not quite a year ago the Carlyle Dairy Co. located a branch Creamery in Didsbury and since that time their business has increased so much that this month saw a big change made in their local industry. The Company has put the local plant on a different basis and while it will be operated under the same management the name of the Company has been changed to the Crystal Dairy Co., Limited.

The new plan is to manufacture and make a specialty of condensed whole milk and pasteurized milk and to use the plant as a supply depot for other branches, which will mean that they will need bigger supplies of whole milk than they have previously used.

A new complete compressor and cooling system will be installed and a new receiving and can washing room and driveway will be built on the west side of their present building.

After the alterations to the plant are completed the capacity will be 3,000 pounds of milk converted into condensed milk every hour. This of course will require a considerable amount of pure milk which it is thought that there should be no trouble in securing in such a district as this with its great dairying industry.

The Company will also manufacture ice cream, butter and cheese, but the main operations will consist in manufacturing condensed milk.

Belgian War Dog

Twice Wounded by Shrapnel. But Never Once Deserted

Nellie, celebrated war dog, brought to this country by the Belgian mission, is dead in Washington, D. C. The passing of a member of the mission itself would scarcely cause more grief among them.

At the first battle of Ypres Nellie trotted along beside her owner, a British officer, into the rain of shrapnel and high explosive shells, with only the thought of being near her master. He fell. She, only wounded, wandered about No Man's Land until picked up by Major Osterreith, of the Belgian 1st Regiment of Guides.

Nellie lived with the Belgian regiment in the trenches for many months, always ready to "go over the top." Twice she was wounded by shrapnel, but she never deserted. When Major Osterreith came to this country with the Belgian mission Nellie came along, and thousands of Americans have seen her twinkling eyes and her stubby wagging tail. Death was due probably to a combination of wounds and age, but she always will be remembered by her comrades as a real heroine. —Milwaukee Journal.

KEEP LITTLE ONES WELL IN WINTER

Winter is a dangerous season for the little ones. The days are so changeable—one bright, the next cold and stormy, that the mother is afraid to take the children out for the fresh air and exercise they need so much. In consequence they are often cooped up in overheated, badly ventilated rooms and are soon seized with colds or grippe. What is needed to keep the little ones well is Baby's Own Tablets. They will regulate the stomach and bowels and drive out colds and by their use the baby will be able to get over the winter season in perfect safety. The tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

"I venture to assert," said the lecturer, "that there isn't a man in this audience who has ever done anything to prevent the destruction of our forests."

THOSE AWFUL GRAMPS

Suggestions that may save
Much Suffering

Marysville, Pa.—"For twelve years I suffered with terrible cramps. I would have to stay in bed several days every month. I tried all kinds of remedies and was treated by doctors, but my trouble continued until one day I read about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and what it had done for others. I tried it and now I am never troubled with cramps and feel like a different woman. I cannot praise Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound too highly and I am recommending it to my friends who suffer as I did."

—Mrs. GEORGE R. NAYLOR, Box 72, Marysville, Pa.

Young women who are troubled with painful or irregular periods, headache, dragging-down sensations, eating spells or indigestion should take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Thousands have been restored to health by this root and herb remedy.

We Must Keep on Fighting

To Stop Fighting Now Is to Surrender What Has Been Gained

We have got to fight the German until he abandons his prey, until he quits his attempt to enslave the Frenchman, the Belgian, the Italian, the Pole, the Serb, and the Lithuanian. To stop fighting now is to surrender, as the Russian has found out to his sorrow. We are all of us fighting for our lives, and our lives were never in greater danger than at this precise moment. It may be necessary to stop fighting and explain why we are defending our lives, but the delay makes neither for effective fighting on our part nor for weaker efforts on the part of our foe. We are not going to conquer or cure the German by words. If we win at all it will be by our artillery and not by our phrases. —New York Tribune.

A Purely Vegetable Pill.—The chief ingredients of Parmed's Vegetable Pills are mandrake and dandelion, sedative and purgative, but perfectly harmless in their action. They cleanse and purify and have a most healthful effect upon the secretions of the digestive organs. The dyspeptic and all who suffer from liver and kidney ailments will find in these pills the most effective medicine in concentrated form that has yet been offered to the suffering.

A Colonel on Leadership
A colonel (says a writer in the Evening Standard) was speaking of the great essentials in leadership, and he gave them in this order:
(1) (Pre-eminently) Being human; getting in touch with the men and taking a personal interest in them, treating them as men and not as mere machines.

(2) Knowing your job; self-confidence inspiring confidence and courage in others.
(3) Determination and concentration, intensity of purpose.
(4) A sane optimism, looking on the bright side but with a due sense of proportion.

Western Woman Speaks With Enthusiasm

MRS. R. ECKFORD TELLS OF DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS.

She Says They Are "All Right," and Gives Her Reasons for Saying So—Why They Are Popular on the Prairies.

Leslieville, Alta. (Special)—It is with true Western enthusiasm that Mrs. R. Eckford, of this place, gives her opinion of Dodd's Kidney Pills. "I wish to inform you that Dodd's Kidney Pills are all right," says Mrs. Eckford.

"I have only taken two boxes, and my back is fine. Of course I will keep on taking them whenever I think my kidneys are not just right." "Your Diamond Dinner Pills are dandy, too," Mrs. Eckford added. "I keep them in the house, and take one occasionally as required."

What strikes one most on the prairies is the warm praise the people give Dodd's Kidney Pills. They are used for all kidney troubles, including backache, rheumatism, lumbago, heart disease, diabetes, and dropsy and Bright's disease, and their popularity is the proof of the good work they are doing. Dodd's Kidney Pills are the standard Canadian kidney remedy.

Daylight Saving

One hour of daylight saving, beginning May 1, would save 900,000 tons of coal. The country is now observing lightless nights, but there is no reason, when the days grow longer, why we should not take advantage of an extra hour of daylight—which can be had without expense and without hardship. Congress should pass daylight saving legislation without delay. —Chicago Tribune.

California Efficiency
There is an efficiency man in San Diego who carries his profession to excess. He has a girl who lives in Los Angeles. He visits her every Sunday and writes every day. For want of a new topic the girl asked him in a recent communication if he really did like her eyes. In reply the e.m. replied: "Replying to your inquiry of even date, beg to refer you to my letter, Feb. 24, 1917, wherein the subject was treated exhaustively."

As a vermifuge there is nothing so potent as Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator, and it can be given to the most delicate child without fear of injury to the constitution.

Expectations
Perhaps the briefest funeral oration ever delivered was that of an old negro of Mississippi over the body of another of his race who had borne a very bad reputation. Lifting his hat and looking down upon the coffin, the old fellow said in solemn funeral tones: "Sam Vicer, yo' is gone. We hopes yo' is gone whar we specks yo' hain't."

Tear Gas at Movie
At a cinema theatre at Bromley, England, on Saturday a curious smell pervaded the building, and in a few moments the eyes of almost everyone began to water. The fumes spread to the operating box, and the men were so affected they could not continue their work. The audience rose and left the building, some complaining of sickness, and many with eyes red and swollen. An officer said the effect was like that produced by "tear shells." Three soldiers were seen to leave shortly before the fumes were noticed, and there is a suspicion they had liberated some gas as a joke.

The first published description of the "divining rod" for tracing underground streams of water was contained in Agricola's "Re de Metallica," dated 1556.

A Quick Relief for Headache

A headache is frequently caused by badly digested food, the gases and acids resulting therefrom are absorbed by the blood which in turn irritates the nerves and causes painful symptoms called headache, neuralgia, rheumatism, etc. 15 to 30 drops of Mother Seigel's Syrup will correct faulty digestion and afford relief.

The Fighting Spirit
A man at the front who starts out to take it seriously will be in the madhouse in less than a month, says a recent writer in Harper's Magazine. But the light-hearted ones, escaping Minnie and Lizzie, may go on indefinitely. The successful soldier of the trenches never loses an opportunity for happiness. He often develops into a more care-free, merry lad than he was at school ten years before. This light heart in the midst of danger and tribulation is our last invincible defense.

ally in haying and harvest, during the summer from the cities and towns. It is not expected that women or girls from towns will be able to do work outside but they may be able to free others who can. The chief limitation for increased production with which farmers are confronted is the scarcity of labor and it is hoped that the establishing of local intelligence offices and clearing houses will result in inducing a larger proportion of our total population to give their efforts to the single and definite end of producing more food from the soil in 1918.

The hum of the plow, or is it the swish of the plow; anyway the plow is what we want to talk about. The farmers are beginning to get very busy with plows and seeders. D. C. Carver stated last week that if the weather continued as fine as at present he would put in his timothy seed this week. It looks like an early season in this district.

Of Interest to Farmers

To avoid delay and inconvenience in having their Spring harness and repair work done in time to go on the land, I would strongly advise farmers to bring their work in early and give us a chance to give you that good work and satisfaction that is so difficult to give when over-crowded with work. Our prices for repairs are very reasonable and mean a big saving when high prices of new harness are considered. We clean, oil and blacken harness for $3.00 per set team harness. Bring your's in and see us make it look like a new set.
